about the Artists

The CAPITOL QUARTET is widely considered one of the most exciting ensembles performing today. Comprised of four saxophonists, they combine innovative repertoire with virtuosic playing and an energetic, engaging stage presence.

Since its formation in 1991, the Capitol Quartet has performed regularly at major concert venues throughout the United States. The Capitol Quartet opened the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra's 1999-2000 concert season and was also featured in a live televised Independence Day concert with the Baltimore Symphony in 1999. The Capitol Quartet has also recently performed with the Cincinnati Pops, Indianapolis Symphony, Rochester & Erie Philharmonics, Long Beach, Virginia, Springfield, Roanoke, and Grand Rapids Symphonies.

In February 2001, the Capitol Quartet's premiere orchestral CD was released. Entitled Anything Goes, it features the Quartet and orchestra performing works such as It Don’t Mean a Thing, Stella by Starlight, My Foolish Heart, and Beethoven's Für Elise.

In 1997, the Capital Quartet released its debut recording, American Sketches. The recording features original works by leading American composers and showcases the range of influences on the saxophone throughout the twentieth century. In 1994, they won the prestigious Baltimore Chamber Music Awards Competition.
